Disclaimer for International Students: Course Selection and Migration Planning

Important Information for International Students:

OZI Education & Migration encourages you to carefully consider the potential future impact of your chosen course of study on your long-term work and migration aspirations in Australia. This disclaimer serves to remind you of several key points:

- Changes in Migration Policies: Australian migration policies and visa requirements are subject to change without prior notice. OZI Education & Migration cannot predict or guarantee the future state of these policies and their potential impact on your visa eligibility or long-term plans.
- Independent Research: We strongly recommend that you research your choice of career and study interest aligned with your migration goals.
- Focus on Course Merit: While future work and migration opportunities are essential considerations, it is crucial to choose a course based on your academic interests, desired career path, and personal learning goals. Selecting a course solely for perceived visa benefits can lead to dissatisfaction and hinder your academic success.

OZI Education & Migration disclaims all responsibility and liability for future Australian migration policy changes that might affect international students' long-term visa plans.
